

AFL-CIO LEGISLATIVE SCORECARD

2011

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard>
Retrieved 8 August 2026
Records 29 House, 19 Senate

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

1. Repealing the Job-Killing Health Care Law Act

H.R. 2 · January 19, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 245 NAYs 189
In the first major vote after winning the majority, House Republicans voted to repeal the Affordable Care Act (ACA) health reform law. The ACA improves access to affordable health care coverage, provides consumer protections, and reduces the federal deficit. Among other effects repeal would cost 1.2 million young adults their coverage through their parents' health plan. It would mean higher drug prices for 2.7 million seniors, would eliminate free preventive services for 44 million seniors, and discard measures to help control health care costs. It would allow insurance companies to resume denying coverage, limiting care and spending premiums on larger CEO salaries and profits.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/repealing-job-killing-health-care-law-act>

2. Resolution Reducing Non-Security Spending to FY2008 Levels or Less

H.Res. 38 · January 25, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 256 NAYs 165
The resolution required that the fiscal year 2011 budget cut spending for all non-defense items to 2008 levels. That would mean massive cuts to vital working family programs and protections such as education, health care, environmental protections, transportation, workplace safety, wage protections and more. The resolution was approved.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/resolution-reducing-non-security-spending-fy2008-levels-or-less>

3. Amendment to Defund the National Labor Relations Board

H.Amdt. 64 to H.R. 1 · February 17, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 176 NAYs 250
As part of the continuing effort to attack workers' rights and weaken the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB), Rep. Tom Price (R-Ga.) offered an amendment to H.R. 1, the continuing resolution to fund the federal government and its agencies that would defund the NLRB for the remainder of 2011. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-defund-national-labor-relations-board>

4. Amendment to Defund the Affordable Care Act

H.Amdt. 102 to H.R. 1 · February 18, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 239 NAYs 187
In another attack on the health care reform, Rep. Dennis Rehberg (R-Mont.) offered an amendment to continuing resolution to fund the federal government and its agencies that would eliminate all funding to implement the Affordable Care Act (ACA). The amendment would prohibit the use of funds to pay any employee, officer, contractor, or grantee of any federal department or agency to implement the provisions of the ACA.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-defund-affordable-care-act>

5. Amendment to Prohibit Project Labor Agreements

H.Amdt. 147 to H.R. 1 · February 19, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 210 NAYs 210
This amendment by Rep. Frank Guinta (R-N.H.) to the Disaster Relief Appropriations Act, 2013 (H.R. 1) would have prohibited the use of Project Labor Agreements (PLAs) on projects funded through the bill. PLAs are a proven, effective tool used to ensure the timely, cost-effective completion of large and complex projects, providing a better value for government agencies and the taxpayers who fund these projects. They also provide contractors—union and nonunion, alike—access to a properly trained and highly skilled workforce. The amendment failed (a tie vote fails).
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-prohibit-project-labor-agreements>

6. Amendment to Repeal Prevailing Wage Laws

H.Amdt. 169 to H.R. 1 · February 19, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 189 NAYs 233
This amendment by Rep. Steve King (R-Iowa) to the Disaster Relief Appropriations Act, 2013 (H.R. 1) would have repealed Davis-Bacon coverage for projects funded under this bill. The Davis-Bacon Act requires companies to pay construction workers locally prevailing wages on federally funded projects. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-repeal-prevailing-wage-laws>

7. Disaster Relief Appropriations Act, 2013

H.R. 1 · February 19, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 235 NAYs 189
The bill would provide continuing appropriations for all government agencies, except the Defense Department, through the remainder of fiscal year 2011. It would cut more than $61 billion including: cuts to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) that will eliminate job safety enforcement and investigations; cuts to job training and Employment Services; cuts to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) which will undermine workers' ability to have a voice on the job; and cuts to Head Start which will result in 218,000 fewer kids in the program. Overall, H.R. 1 would destroy hundreds of thousands of jobs. It also would bar the use of funds made available in the bill for a variety of executive branch regulatory activities and implementation of several provisions of the Affordable Care Act. The bill passed the House.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/disaster-relief-appropriations-act-2013>

8. SOAR Act

H.R. 471 · March 30, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 225 NAYs 195
The bill would reauthorize and expand Washington, D.C.'s private school voucher pilot program that expired at the end of fiscal year 2008. The voucher program was flawed and ineffective, according to several federal reports.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/soar-act>

9. Amendment to Limit Federal Employees' Collective Bargaining Rights

H.Amdt. 226 to H.R. 658 · March 31, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 195 NAYs 227
Current law allows federal employees who serve as union representatives a reasonable amount of official time to perform functions on behalf of the union such as negotiations, but not for internal union business. Rep. Phil Gingrey (R-Ga.) offered an amendment to Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) reauthorization bill that would prohibit FAA employees from using official time.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-limit-federal-employees-collective-bargaining-rights>

10. Amendment to Repeal Prevailing Wage Laws

H.Amdt. 228 to H.R. 658 · April 1, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 183 NAYs 238
This amendment by Rep. Pete Sessions (R-Texas) to the FAA Modernization and Reform Act (H.R. 658) would have repealed Davis-Bacon coverage for projects funded under this bill. The Davis-Bacon Act requires companies to pay construction workers locally prevailing wages on federally funded projects. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-repeal-prevailing-wage-laws-3>

11. Democratic Union Elections

H.Amdt. 229 to H.R. 658 · April 1, 2011
Position Good for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 206 NAYs 220
Last year, the National Mediation Board (NMB) issued a new rule for union representation elections for airline and rail workers that calls for the majority of votes cast to determine the outcome of the elections—just as the majority of votes cast decide congressional and other elections. Previously each worker who did not cast a vote was counted as "No" vote. The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) reauthorization bill would have returned election rules to the previous system. Rep. Steve LaTourette (R-Ohio) offered an amendment to the bill that would have preserved the NMB rule in which representation would be determined by a majority of the votes actually cast.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/democratic-union-elections>

12. FY2012 Budget Resolution

H.Con.Res. 34 · April 15, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 235 NAYs 193
The Republican Budget Resolution makes huge cuts to vital working family programs and cuts taxes for the wealthy and corporations. It converts the federal share of Medicaid to a block grant to states and privatizes Medicare with a voucher system. It makes permanent the Bush tax cuts for the wealthy, along with new tax cuts and cuts corporate taxes. It does not project a balanced budget.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/fy2012-budget-resolution>

13. Amendment to Review Privatization of Department of Defense Jobs

H.Amdt. 308 to H.R. 1540 · May 25, 2011
Position Good for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 198 NAYs 225
An amendment to the bill from Sen. Paul Sarbanes (D-Md.) would maintain a requirement that the Defense Department conduct annual reviews of private contracts, the number of contracted-out jobs and the performance of the contractors. Republicans, pushing for further privatization of government services wanted to eliminate the reviews.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-review-privatization-department-defense-jobs>

14. Amendment to Repeal Prevailing Wage Laws

H.Amdt. 386 to H.R. 2017 · June 2, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 183 NAYs 234
This amendment by Rep. Paul Gosar (R-Ariz.) to the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2012 (H.R. 2017) would have repealed Davis-Bacon coverage for projects funded under this bill. The Davis-Bacon Act requires companies to pay construction workers locally prevailing wages on federally funded projects. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-repeal-prevailing-wage-laws-0>

15. Amendment to Prohibit Project Labor Agreements

H.Amdt. 388 to H.R. 2017 · June 2, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 207 NAYs 213
This amendment by Rep. Steve Scalise (R-La.) to the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2012 (H.R. 2017) would have prohibited the use of Project Labor Agreements (PLAs) on projects funded through the bill. PLAs are a proven, effective tool used to ensure the timely, cost-effective completion of large and complex projects, providing a better value for government agencies and the taxpayers who fund these projects. They also provide contractors—union and nonunion, alike—access to a properly trained and highly skilled workforce. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-prohibit-project-labor-agreements-0>

16. Amendment to Prohibit Collective Bargaining Rights for TSA Employees

H.Amdt. 398 to H.R. 2017 · June 2, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 218 NAYs 205
After a nearly 10-year battle, Transportation Security Officers at the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) finally won collective bargaining rights in February. Rep. Todd Rokita (R-Ind.) offered an amendment to the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2012 (H.R. 2017) that would prohibit collective bargaining for TSA employees.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-prohibit-collective-bargaining-rights-tsa-employees>

17. Amendment to Prohibit Project Labor Agreements

H.Amdt. 411 to H.R. 2055 · June 13, 2011
Position Good for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 204 NAYs 203
This amendment by Rep. Steven LaTourette (R-Ohio) to the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2012 (H.R. 2055) would have prohibited the use of Project Labor Agreements (PLAs) on projects of more than $25 million funded through the bill. PLAs are a proven, effective tool used to ensure the timely, cost-effective completion of large and complex projects, providing a better value for government agencies and the taxpayers who fund these projects. They also provide contractors—union and nonunion, alike—access to a properly trained and highly skilled workforce. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-prohibit-project-labor-agreements-1>

18. Amendment to Repeal Prevailing Wage Laws

H.Amdt. 413 to H.R. 2055 · June 13, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 178 NAYs 232

This amendment by Rep. Justin Amash (R-Mich.) to the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2012 (H.R. 2055) would have repealed Davis-Bacon coverage for projects funded under this bill. The Davis-Bacon Act requires companies to pay construction workers locally prevailing wages on federally funded projects. The amendment failed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-repeal-prevailing-wage-laws-1>

19. Amendment to Repeal Prevailing Wage Laws

H.Amdt. 655 to H.R. 2354 · July 15, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 183 NAYs 238

This amendment by Rep. Paul Gosar (R-Ariz.) to the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act, 2012 (H.R. 2354) would have repealed Davis-Bacon coverage for projects less than $20 million funded under this bill. The Davis-Bacon Act requires companies to pay construction workers locally prevailing wages on federally funded projects. The amendment failed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/amendment-repeal-prevailing-wage-laws-2>

20. Cut, Cap, and Balance Act of 2011

H.R. 2560 · July 19, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 234 NAYs 190

The bill allows an increase in the debt limit only if Congress also passes a balanced-budget constitutional amendment. The balanced budget amendment would set fiscal year 2012 discretionary spending at $1.019 trillion and enforce unrealistic statutory spending caps that would limit spending as a percentage of gross domestic product (GDP) for a 10-year period. The bill passed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/cut-cap-and-balance-act-2011>

21. Protecting Jobs From Government Interference Act

H.R. 2587 · September 15, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 238 NAYs 186

The bill was part of an orchestrated attack by congressional Republicans on workers' rights and the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB). It was sweeping legislation that undermines the basic rights of workers to organize and collectively bargain by permanently eliminating the NLRB's only effective remedy against a wide range of illegal employer conduct. In addition to crippling the enforcement powers of the NLRB, the bill makes it easier for companies to ship jobs overseas creating a new race to the bottom for American workers. The bill passed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/protecting-jobs-government-interference-act>

22. United States-Colombia Trade Agreement

H.R. 3078 · October 12, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 262 NAYs 167

Colombia is the most dangerous country in which to be a trade unionist. In 2010, 51 labor leaders were killed in Colombia, an increase over 2009 and more than in the rest of the world combined. The Colombia free trade agreement—negotiated by the Bush administration—continues the flawed trade policies of the past rather than laying out a new and progressive vision for the future that strengthens labor rights protections for all workers, safeguards domestic laws and regulations, and promotes the export of U.S. goods rather than jobs. The agreement was approved.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/united-states-colombia-trade-agreement>

23. United States-Panama Trade Agreement

H.R. 3079 · October 12, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 300 NAYs 129

The Panama trade agreement, like the Colombia and South Korea agreements, was negotiated by the Bush administration and continues the flawed trade policies of the past rather than laying out a new and progressive vision for the future that strengthens labor rights protections for all workers, safeguards domestic laws and regulations, and promotes the export of U.S. goods rather than jobs. The agreement was approved.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/united-states-panama-trade-agreement>

24. United States-Korea Free Trade Agreement

H.R. 3080 · October 12, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 278 NAYs 151

The South Korea Trade agreement like the Panama and Colombia trade agreements, was negotiated by the Bush administration and continues the flawed trade policies of the past rather than laying out a new and progressive vision for the future that strengthens labor rights protections for all workers, safeguards domestic laws and regulations, and promotes the export of U.S. goods rather than jobs. The agreement was approved.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/united-states-korea-free-trade-agreement>

25. Resolution Proposing a Balanced Budget Constitutional Amendment

H.J.Res. 2 · November 18, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 261 NAYs 165

The joint resolution proposed a constitutional amendment that would require a balanced budget starting in fiscal 2018 or the second fiscal year after ratification by three-fourths of the states, whichever is later. Under the proposal three-fifths of the entire House and Senate would be required to approve deficit spending or an increase in the public debt limit. A simple majority could waive the requirement in times of congressionally declared war or in the face of a serious military threat. The amendment was defeated.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/resolution-proposing-balanced-budget-constitutional-amendment>

26. Workforce Democracy and Fairness Act

H.R. 3094 · November 30, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 235 NAYs 188

This bill was part of the orchestrated attack by congressional Republicans on workers' rights and the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB). The bill would mandate election delays, giving companies more power to wear down support for a union, and create new opportunities for stalling elections. The bill would allow employers to game the system and force workers to wait months, and perhaps years, before they are allowed to vote on whether to form a union. The bill passed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/workforce-democracy-and-fairness-act>

27. Regulatory Accountability Act of 2011

H.R. 3010 · December 2, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 253 NAYs 167

Instead of focusing on job creation, congressional Republicans moved to roll back vital safety, health, environmental and other rules. The bill would cripple the regulatory process by adding dozens of new analytical, procedural, and judicial review requirements. It would add years of delay to the rulemaking process, which already takes 6-10 years to develop major workplace safety rules. The bill would also require agencies to adopt the least costly rule, instead of the most protective rule as is now required by The Occupational Safety and Health Act and the Mine Safety and Health Act. The bill passed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/regulatory-accountability-act-2011>

28. Regulations From the Executive in Need of Scrutiny Act of 2011

H.R. 10 · December 7, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 241 NAYs 184

The bill would restrict the Obama Administration from functioning efficiently by allowing "major" rules issued by agencies to take effect only if Congress votes to enact them with a joint resolution. The Republican-backed bill was intended to hamstring the Administration's decision-making capabilities. The bill was approved.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/regulations-executive-need-scrutiny-act-2011>

29. Middle Class Tax Relief and Job Creation Act of 2012

H.R. 3630 · December 13, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 234 NAYs 193

The bill extended the 4.2% employee payroll tax rate through 2012, but the Republican legislation offset the cost with drastic benefit reductions for jobless workers, pay cuts for public employees, reduced premium assistance for low and middle-income individuals buying health insurance, cutbacks in preventive health services and higher premiums for many Medicare beneficiaries. The bill was approved.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/house/middle-class-tax-relief-and-job-creation-act-2012>

SENATE

---

1. Amendment to Repeal Prevailing Wage Laws

S.Amdt. 19 to S. 223 · February 3, 2011
Position Good for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 55 NAYs 42
This amendment by Sen. Rand Paul (R-Ky.) to the FAA Air Transportation Modernization and Safety Improvement Act (S. 223) would have repealed Davis-Bacon coverage for projects funded under this bill. The Davis-Bacon Act requires companies to pay construction workers locally prevailing wages on federally funded projects. A motion to table the amendment passed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/amendment-repeal-prevailing-wage-laws>

2. Amendment to Repeal TSA Employees' Collective Bargaining Rights

S.Amdt. 14 to S. 223 · February 15, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 47 NAYs 51
After a 10 year struggle, airport screeners with the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) won collective bargaining rights in January. However, during consideration of the FAA reauthorization bill, Sen. Roger Wicker (R-Miss.) offered an amendment to strip TSA worker of those rights. The amendment failed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/amendment-repeal-tsa-employees-collective-bargaining-rights>

3. Amendment to Eliminate Airline Flight Crew Health and Safety Protections

S.Amdt. 18 to S. 223 · February 17, 2011
Position Good for working people
Outcome Passed YEAs 52 NAYs 47
Flight crews have lacked the protection of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). But the FAA OSHA reached a memorandum of understanding that provides some OSHA protections to flight crews. Sen. Rand Paul (R-Ky.) offered an amendment to eliminate those workplace protections. A motion to table amendment was passed.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/amendment-eliminate-airline-flight-crew-health-and-safety-protections>

4. Disaster Relief Appropriations Act, 2013

H.R. 1 · March 9, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 44 NAYs 56
The bill would provide continuing appropriations for all government agencies, except the Defense Department, through the remainder of fiscal year 2011. It would cut more than $61 billion including: cuts to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) that will eliminate job safety enforcement and investigations; cuts to job training and Employment Services; cuts to the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) which would undermine workers' ability to have a voice on the job; and cuts to Head Start which will result in 218,000 fewer kids in the program. Overall, H.R. 1 would destroy hundreds of thousands of jobs. It also would bar the use of funds made available in the bill for a variety of executive branch regulatory activities and implementation of several provisions of the Affordable Care Act. The bill, not receiving at least 60 votes, failed the Senate.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/disaster-relief-appropriations-act-2013>

5. Amendment to Restrict the Regulatory Process

S.Amdt. 390 to S. 782 · June 9, 2011
Position Bad for working people
Outcome Failed YEAs 53 NAYs 46
Instead of focusing on job creation, congressional Republicans moved to roll back and limit vital safety, health, environmental, and other rules. During consideration of the Economic Development Administration reauthorization bill, Sen. Olympia Snowe (R-Maine) offered an amendment that would add new costly and burdensome requirements on the regulatory authority of government departments and agencies. The amendment would stall the regulatory process and make it difficult or delay government agencies, like Occupational Safety and Health Administration from issuing new regulations designed to protect workers, consumers, and the public. The bill was defeated.
Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/amendment-restrict-regulatory-process>

6. Cloture Motion: American Jobs Act of 2011

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          | S. 1660 · October 11, 2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Position | Good for working people                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Outcome  | Failed YEAs 50 NAYs 49                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|          | In an effort to promote job creation and boost the economy President Obama proposed the American Jobs Act that would create as many as 2 million new jobs and keep 280,000 teachers from being laid off. It also protected the unemployment insurance benefits of more than 5 million jobless workers, invested in badly needed infrastructure repair and was paid for by a small surtax on incomes over $1 million a year. Republicans filibustered the bill and a motion to end the filibuster failed to gain the 60 votes needed. |
| Source   | https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/cloture-motion-american-jobs-act-2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

7. United States-Korea Free Trade Agreement

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          | H.R. 3080 · October 12, 2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Position | Bad for working people                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Outcome  | Passed YEAs 83 NAYs 15                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|          | The South Korea Trade Agreement, like the Panama and Colombia trade agreements, was negotiated by the Bush administration and continues the flawed trade policies of the past rather than laying out a new and progressive vision for the future that strengthens labor rights protections for all workers, safeguards domestic laws and regulations, and promotes the export of U.S. goods rather than jobs. The agreement was approved. |
| Source   | https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/united-states-korea-free-trade-agreement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

8. United States-Panama Trade Agreement

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          | H.R. 3079 · October 12, 2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Position | Bad for working people                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Outcome  | Passed YEAs 77 NAYs 22                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|          | The Panama trade agreement, like the Colombia and South Korea agreements, was negotiated by the Bush administration and continues the flawed trade policies of the past rather than laying out a new and progressive vision for the future that strengthens labor rights protections for all workers, safeguards domestic laws and regulations, and promotes the export of U.S. goods rather than jobs. The agreement was approved. |
| Source   | https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/united-states-panama-trade-agreement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

9. United States-Colombia Trade Agreement

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          | H.R. 3078 · October 12, 2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Position | Bad for working people                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Outcome  | Passed YEAs 66 NAYs 33                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|          | Colombia is the most dangerous country in which to be a trade unionist. In 2010, 51 labor leaders were killed in Colombia, an increase over 2009 and more than the rest of the world combined. The Colombia free trade agreement—negotiated by the Bush administration—continues the flawed trade policies of the past rather than laying out a new and progressive vision for the future that strengthens labor rights protections for all workers, safeguards domestic laws and regulations, and promotes the export of U.S. goods rather than job. |
| Source   | https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/united-states-colombia-trade-agreement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

10. Cloture Motion: Teachers and First Responders Back to Work Act of 2011

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          | S. 1723 · October 20, 2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Position | Good for working people                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Outcome  | Failed YEAs 50 NAYs 50                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|          | After Senate Republicans filibustered the American Jobs Act, Democrats introduced the Teachers and First Responders Back to Work Act that would provide $35 billion in aid to state and local governments for teachers and public safety workers. It would be paid for by a small surtax on incomes of $1 million a year. Republicans filibustered the bill and motion to end the filibuster failed. |
| Source   | https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/cloture-motion-teachers-and-first-responders-back-work-act-2011                                                                                                                                                            |

11. Rebuild America Jobs Act

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|----------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
|          | S. 1769 · November 3, 2011                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Position | Good for working people                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Outcome  | Failed YEAs 51 NAYs 49                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|          | Provides $50 billion for spending on transportation and infrastructure systems and an additional $10 billion for the establishment of a national infrastructure bank. The cost would be offset with a 0.7% surtax on individuals with annual incomes exceeding $1 million. It was rejected. |
| Source   | https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/rebuild-america-jobs-act                                                                                                                                  |

12. Motion to Proceed: Long-Term Surface Transportation Extension Act of 2011

S. 1786 · November 3, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 47 NAYs 53

Part of the Republicans so-called "jobs" plan, this legislation would undermine key public health and worker protections and seriously disrupt federal services. The so called "regulatory reform" measures contained in this bill have nothing to do with creating jobs, but are simply an attempt to roll back 40 years of progress in protecting the public from harm and stopping corporate abuses. A Republican motion to proceed to the bill failed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/motion-proceed-long-term-surfacer-transportation-extension-act-2011>

13. Amendment to Repeal Withholding Certain Payments to Contractors

S. Amdt. 928 to H.R. 674 · November 10, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 40 NAYs 56

As part of the Republican attack on workplace, safety, environmental, and consumer protections, Sen. John McCain (R-Ariz.) offered an amendment to the bill that would roll back or weaken many federal regulations, including a provision that would bar the Environmental Protection Agency from regulating greenhouse gases under the Clean Air Act. It also would express the sense of Congress in support of a balanced-budget constitutional amendment.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/amendment-repeal-withholding-certain-payments-contractors>

14. Motion to End Filibuster: Richard Cordray CFPB Confirmation

December 8, 2011

Position Good for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 53 NAYs 45

Republicans filibustered President Obama's of Richard Cordray to be director of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. A motion to invoke cloture and end the filibuster fell short of the 60 votes needed and failed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/motion-end-filibuster-richard-cordray-cfpb-confirmation>

15. Motion to End Filibuster: Democratic Payroll Tax Holiday Extension

S. 1944 · December 8, 2011

Position Good for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 50 NAYs 48

The bill would extend and expand a reduction in payroll tax rates for employees and would also extend the unemployment insurance (UI) program for the long-term jobless due to expire at the end of December. It would be paid for in part with a 1.9 percent surtax on annual incomes over $1 million. A motion to end the Republican filibuster did not receive the 60 votes needed and failed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/motion-end-filibuster-democratic-payroll-tax-holiday-extension>

16. Temporary Tax Holiday and Government Reduction Act

S. 1931 · December 8, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 22 NAYs 76

This Republican measure would extend the current payroll tax rates for individuals through 2012. It would be paid for by requiring increased Medicare payments from higher-income earners, and in another Republican attack on workers, it would extend the current pay freeze for federal workers for three years and reduce the federal civilian work force through attrition. The motion failed.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/temporary-tax-holiday-and-government-reduction-act>

17. Resolution Proposing a Balanced Budget Constitutional Amendment

S.J.Res. 24 · December 14, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 21 NAYs 79

The joint resolution proposed a constitutional amendment that would require a balanced budget. Under the proposal, three-fifths of the entire House and Senate would be required to approve deficit spending, except in times of congressionally declared war or in the face of a serious military threat. The proposal would not count the Social Security trust fund in calculating overall receipts or outlays. The amendment was rejected.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/resolution-proposing-balanced-budget-constitutional-amendment-0>

18. Resolution Proposing a Balanced Budget Constitutional Amendment

S.J.Res. 10 · December 14, 2011

Position Bad for working people

Outcome Failed YEAs 47 NAYs 53

The joint resolution proposed a constitutional amendment that would require a balanced budget. The proposal would require that total outlays could not exceed 18% of the gross domestic product. Under the proposal, three-fifths of the entire House and Senate would be required to approve an increase in the public debt limit. In addition, tax increases would require the affirmative vote of two-thirds in both chambers. A simple majority could waive the balanced-budget requirement in times of congressionally declared war or in the face of a serious military threat. The amendment was rejected.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/resolution-proposing-balanced-budget-constitutional-amendment>

19. Amendment to Extend Unemployment Insurance and Payroll Holiday Tax Rate

S.Amdt. 1465 to H.R. 3630 · December 17, 2011

Position Good for working people

Outcome Passed YEAs 89 NAYs 10

The amendment extends the 4.2% employee payroll tax rate; extends Medicare payments rates to doctors and extends unemployment insurance (UI) program for the long-term jobless. It is offset by an increase in loan fees levied by government-backed mortgage lenders Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac for guaranteeing loans purchased in the secondary mortgage market. The amendment was approved.

Source <https://aflcio.org/scorecard/votes/2011/senate/amendment-extend-unemployment-insurance-and-payroll-holiday-tax-rate>